

Death on the Boat

An expert sailor was killed while sailing his boat. He had suffered a heavy blow to the head. How had it happened?

Clues

His death was an accident.

No one else was on the boat.

He was not hit by anything on or part of the boat.

No bird, fish, or marine animal was involved.

He was hit by something which fell out of the sky.

Solution

He had been hit by a block of frozen toilet waste ejected by a passenger jet high above him. It fell into the sea leaving no trace.